Address, GAZETTE PRINTING CO.

THE DEMOCRATS AND THE PRESIDENT.

The leading Democrats in Congress are not a little stirred up about the reference the President made in his message to the condition of things in the South. Those Democrats who at the start applauded the President for his very mild Southern policy, are the ones who are the most deeply aroused over the gentle mention the President in his wisdom saw fit to make regarding the right of the negro in the South to vote as freely as any one else. He also suggested in language devoid of offense, that there should be investigation into the outrages in the South; that the laws should be strictly enforced; that justice should be done all classes; and that the all power of the Administration should be employed to protect the people in the South in the enjoyment of their right to live, to own property and to vote. Because he has done these things, the Democrats, North and South, are mad and they threaten to bulldoze the President by opposing his appointments. Any reference to the damnable state of affairs in the South harrows up the bitter feelings of the Democrats. It is a stench in their nostrils they can't endure, and they want the matter dropped, and all thought of investigations abandoned. Even on the first day of the session (Monday), when the clerk had hardly finished reading the message, Fernando Wood, of New York, flew into a rage at once, denied that there had been any violence in the South, and declared that the President was trying to impose upon Congress and the country. He made an ass of himself, and the people laugh at his ignorance and assumption.

Mr. Wood and his followers have certainly not been readers of the Southern press, for the papers in South Carolina have very frequently boasted of the power of the Democrats in that State to force the negroes to vote the Democratic ticket, and they have likewise lauded the intimidations used to make the State solidly Democratic. The Democrats in Congress know full well that within the past twenty months there have been twenty United States officers wounded, and two killed in the South because they attempted to enforce the laws in those States, and for these offences, but one arrest has been made. There are over a hundred thousand Republicans in South Carolina, and at the last election, Wade Hampton, a man who has gone with the extreme bulldozers in crushing the Republicans in that State, received 119,000 votes while the Republican vote, or votes opposed to Hampton, counted just two hundred and thirteen! Then again last year the Republicans had 64 members in the lower house of the Legislature, and the Democrats had 60, but this year under Fernando Wood's so-called "quiet election" the Democrats have 121, and the Republicans three! In the whole Legislature there are 150 Democrats and 8 Republicans. This is the way the thing has been run during the past campaign in the South, and because the President in the most respectful terms suggested an investigation, condemned fraud and outrages, and hoped for a better state of things, the Democrats in Congress are rising up against him, and denouncing a message which is too tame to hurt any one. Their attacks on the President will strengthen him and the Republicans and will do the Democrats much damage. Whenever the Democrats of the North uphold the frauds and the violence in the South, and array themselves against honest elections, the wave of popular indignation will sweep over them, and the North will be solid for true liberty and actual peace, in all parts of the country.

THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Finance Board of the State Agricultural Society held a meeting in Madison on Tuesday evening of this week, when the general financial condition of the Society was discussed at some length. This has been an important subject for some time inasmuch as the Society has been a little involved for the past few years. Treasurer Cyrus Miner, of this city, presented his annual report, and after being thoroughly examined, it was pronounced correct by the Board of Finance. The report gives the following information:

Receipts for 1878	$19,001.29
Expenses, including premiums	15,181.65
Balance	$3,819 64

The State Journal seems to have forgotten that last year the fair was held in Janesville, that the weather was good, that the receipts were large, and that the net profits was as large as in 1878. The bad seasons when the Society was unavoidably plunged into debt were 1875 and 1876, when the exhibitions were held in Milwaukee. The report of Mr. Miner shows the indebtedness of the society to be as follows:

Society's indebtedness is	$3,500 00
Interest thereon	315 00
Total indebtedness	$3,815 00
Premiums yet unpaid	500 00
Total	$4,315 00
Deduct profits of 1878	3,819 64
Present arrears	$ 495 36

The total debt of the Society according to the report of the Treasurer, is $4,315 and deducting the balance on hand of $3,819.64, leaves a debt of only $495 36. Should the executive committe decide next February to hold the fair of 1879 in Janesville, the Society will pay off that $495, and will also have a snug little sum left to place in the treasury. They will have to settle down to business next year, as the President can't help them again.

Henry S. Foote, generally known as "Hangman" Foote, has been nominated by the President as Superintendent of the New Orleans Mint, in place of ex-Governor Hahn. Foote is one of the relics of the old slavery days, and also an ex-champion of the code of honor. He was born in the South, educated in the South, and never deserted the South in the hour of secession. He opposed disunion, but when the South resolved to secede, Foote followed her. He was in the United States Senate in 1847-52, was elected Governor of Mississippi in 1852 over Jeff Davies, and was in the Rebel Congress during the war. Being a firm defender of the "code," and not being always particular as to the language used toward his opponents, he was involved in three "affairs of honor," in two of which he was slightly wounded. Since the war he has taken no active part in politics, but has been a conservative Republican. He presided over the last Republican State Convention in Tennessee. During the days when the slave power ruled this country, Foote was a powerful advocate of the enslavement of the negro, and was so bitter against abolitionists that he swore if he had the power he would hang every one of them, hence his nickname, "Hangman."

The New York Tribune in its prospectus this year recounts fairly enough its work during the late campaign, and then warns the Republican party that the victories this fall would have been reversed if the Greenbackers and the Democrats had been united. In the possibility of this union, it thinks, lies the danger of the immediate future. It is undoubtedly right, therefore, in summoning Republicans to the continued work of educating voters by the diffusion of sound political principles. The Tribune's services in the campaign were so influential, that its counsels now deserve especial attention. It presents an attractive programme of its own for next year, and its premiums are particularly dazzling. See its prospectus.

The Chicago Tribune of Wednesday says: Numerous letters from the First Wisconsin Congressional District are to the effect that the friends of Congressman Williams will bring him out as a candidate for the United States Senate at the proper time. Mr. Williams says he is the personal and political friend of all the other candidates, and stubbornly refuses to enter the lists, or even sanction the efforts that his friends are making in his behalf.

It has come to light that the election of the three Republicans in the lower house of the South Carolina, legislature was the result of an accident on the part of the Democrats. They did not intend that any Republicans should be elected, and there would have been none had the tissue ballots intended for Beaufort county reached there in time, the vessel on which they were placed, having run on a sandbar.

In twenty-six days from now, resumption will take place, at least it will be put to a test. There is not near so much opposition in Congress to specie resumption this winter as last, and it now seems entirely probable, that no attempt will be made on the part of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, to repeal the law or to hamper Secretary Sherman in the work of resuming.

According to the Chicago Tribune, Senator Howe wrote a private letter to a friend in that city in which he used this language: "The Milwaukee Wisconsin boldly accuses me of supporting remonetization, as if it were already conceded that the silver dollar is a felon, and therefore in only remains to prove that I am an accomplice. I admit the complicity but deny the felony."

Secretary Sherman has given an answer to the persons in San Francisco, who wanted to furnish the Government with one million trade dollars within sixty days, that number to be imported from China. The Secretary says that trade dollars will be bought only as bullion upon bids each Wednesday, and that no premium will be given trade dollars over other bullion.

The catalogue of the Lawrence University at Appleton, for 1878-9, has just been published. The total number of students in the University at the time the catalogue was published, was 147. The alumni of the institution since it was opened, number 210, of which 134 are gentlemen. The University is in very good condition and merits abundant success.

The bill relating to Presidential elections, and the counting of votes pertaining thereto, is in the Senate, and should be acted upon this season. Senator Edmunds has given notice that he will move in the matter.

When a member of either house of Congress can't do anything else for his country, and becomes firmly impressed that he must do something, he introduces a bill on the financial question.

The Millers' Association of Illinois have adopted a resolution urging the discontinuance of the wire grain binders, so far as binding wheat is concerned.

The latest reports say that Governor Wade Hampton is out of danger, and that he is recovering rapidly.

FAILURE.

The Crookedness of Which is the Town Talk in Delavan.

DELAVAN, Wis., Dec. 4—I. R. Stall of this city, a dealer in boots and shoes, failed and made an assignment to-day. The failure is the town talk, and rumor says that there are things connected with the failure that ought to and will come to light. The shipping of goods by night overland, the making of cases in large numbers by carpenters, and then binding them with hoop iron is all suggestive.

HAYES' POLICY.

What He Says About Hampton and Nicholls.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The President denies having changed his Southern policy in essential features. He says that he never adopted any policy, Southern or otherwise that allowed the laws to be trampled under foot. He feels as kindly toward the Southern people as ever, and regrets that the condition of matters in two States made it necessary for him to use even the mild language he did. He credits Hampton and Nicholls with good intentions in trying to carry out their pledges, but thinks they have a ruffianly element to deal with. His views are very charitable, and Southern men are taking back some of the harsh observations they made when they read the Southern clause in his message. Prominent Lousiana Democrats here say Nicholls is in earnest in attempting to put down lawlessness, and that a lot of murderers, a dozen or two, will be hung shortly, to show that the authorities are in earnest.

BY ACCIDENT.

The Election of Three Republicans to the South Carolina Legislature.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—It turns out that the three Republicans in the South Carolina Legislature are there by accident. It is generally supposed that the Republicans were allowed to carry Beaufort County to give an appearance of fairness to the unanimity of all the other counties. But the bottom facts now come to light. Ten thousand tissue ballots were prepared in Charleston to ship to Beaufort, but en route the ship ran on to a sandbar, delaying the tickets until Tuesday night, when it was too late. By this accident the Republicans carried the county and got three members of the Legislature.

THE MILLERS.

Annual Session of the State Association—A New Grade of Wheat Called for.

MILWAUKEE, Wis, Dec. 4.—The annual session of the State Millers' Association was held here this afternoon. Resolutions were adopted asking the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce to establish a new grade of wheat, to be called "No. 2 soft," and that all millers be requested to furnish fife wheat to farmers for seed, so that the yield of hard wheat be increased.

The following officers were elected: President, Edward Sanderson, Milwaukee; Vice President, Theodore Conkey, Appleton; Secretary and Treasurer, S. H. Seamans, Milwaukee.

KILLED.

Levi Perrin, by the Collision of Two Hand-Cars in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 4.—This evening Levi Perrin, one of the oldest railway roadmasters of the country, was run over and killed on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, just inside the northern limits of the city, by the collision of hand-cars while the gangs were racing and hunting on their way home. The deceased has a family of a wife and four children, living in Waukegan, Ill. An inquiry into the cause of the accident will be instituted to-morrow.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Messrs. H. V. and H. W. Poor, of New York, have recently published a very valuable work on Resumption and the Silver Question, which embraces a sketch of the coinage and of the legal tender currencies of the United States and other nations. It was written to aid in placing the monetary system of the country upon the solid foundation of principle, and arrest the progress of the Greenback party. Notwithstanding the campaign has closed, the value of the book is not lessened in the least. It is not, nor can be called a campaign work. It is a valuable book now as well as previous to the election. It contains so many historic fact, so many wise suggestions, and many useful and trustworthy statistics, that so long as the financial question is a subject of discussion, just so long will this little book be a valuable one. The information it gives is of such an important character, that it can not soon lose its interest and value. (Resumption and the Silver Question, A Handbook for the Times &c., by Henry V. Poor. New York: H. V. and H. W. Poor, 68 Broadway. Janesville: James Sutherland & Sons. Price $1.50.)

The List of Tramps.

American tourists, as is well known, have a weakness for writing their names in places famous or otherwise. Thus thousands have written their names in the cupola at Mount Vernon, at Arlington, on the rocks at Niagara Falls, on Jefferson's Rock at Harper's Ferry, and other places equally famous in this country. A great many have a weakness for writing their names at the top of the dome of the capitol, and it is due to this fact that this paragraph was suggested. All kinds of efforts have been made to prevent this continual disfiguring of the walls, but without any apparent effect.

Some weeks ago some fellow wrote above the names near the top of the dome, and so high that no one can get to it, the words "List of Tramps." Of course all who want to write their names are forced, if at all, to write them under these words, thus classing themselves as tramps. It is really wonderful how these simple words have stopped the scribblers from defacing the walls and railings by writing on them. It may be that if this remedy was applied elsewhere it would have the same effect, though it would be too tremendous a thing to believe that the habit ever can be broken up in this country or elsewhere by any device.—Washington Correspondent Hartford Times.

The Hog Cholera Scourge in Central Illinois.

In the central part of the State, East and South of Peoria, the hog cholera seems to have raged during the past year to a terrible extent. The Bloomington Pantagraph has been making inquiries regarding the matter, and gives the results of its investigations in its issue of Saturday. Except in McLean its injuriesseem to have been generally confined to a single locality in each county. Even with this limited investigation the showing is bad enough. Its figures show that McLean county has lost 5,000 hogs, valued at $15'000. At Farmer City, DeWitt county, estimated value of hogs lost, $4,000; Ford county (Paxton), $1,500; Tazewell county (three towns), $4,000; Logan county (Atlanta), $9,600; Mason county (Marons), $7,000; Livingston county (Pontiac), $1000. In this caunty it has thus far been confined to a single farm, but fears are entertained that it will spread from there. DeWitt county (Clinton), $7,350. The correspondent thinks the direct and indirect loss in this county from hog cholera during the past year has been something like $200,000. A great number of remedies for the disease have been tried, but none of them seem to check it to any appreciable degree.—Peoria Transcript.

Diamond Out Diamond.

There lives in——, Kentucky, a clever gentleman and an excellent lawyer as well, Judge D. This gentleman was intimate with an old gentleman, Governor R., living in an adjacent country. Governor R. was and is (for I belive he is still living) what we are in the habit of calling an old-time Virginia gentleman of stately dignity. Well, the Judge was on a visit at the old governor's house, and it happened that the governor took him out riding in his buggy, and that in passing along the turnpike they approached a toll-gate, when the judge taking out his purse as if to pay toll, the governor said, in his stately way, "I've been a long time trying to make you a gentleman, to little purpose, I see. You must know, sir, that when a gentleman takes a gentleman out riding, he does not expect him to pay his passage." The judge put up his pocket book and said nothing. After a while they came to a gate on the governor's place, when the governor stopped the buggy for the young judge to get out and open the gate; but the judge sat still and was silent. After a while, still waiting, the governor said, "Ahem! ahem!" waiting for the judge to move, and then again "Ahem! ahem!" After a good long pause the judge said, "Governor R., you must know, sir, that when a gentleman takes a gentleman out to ride, he doesn't expect him to work his passage;" and there the judge had him sure—don't you think so?

A Problem Long Since Solved.

How to remedy those prolific causes of disease an impoverished circulation and an impaired digestion, was a problem the solution of which had often baffled medical skill, but which was solved over a quarter of a century ago by the introduction of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to public and professional notice. Since that time, which may well be said to have initiated a new epoch in the history of medicine, the remedy and preventive referred to has obtained a foothold in the confidence of the American people that each succeeding year has only served to strengthen. It is recognized throughout the Union as a tonic of the first order, a remedy for and sure means of preventing fever and ague, and disorders of the stomach and bowels; as a reliable means of reforming a disordered state of the liver, and of counteracting a tendency to rheumatism, gout, urinary and uterine disorders.

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

History of the First Steamboat in the World.

The Clermont as she steamed up the Hudson, on the 17th of August, 1807, with Fulton, a few friends, and six passengers, left on the shore an incredulous and jeering crowd of people. Her dimensions were: Length, 130 feet; width, 18 feet; depth, 7 feet; burden, 160 tons. She was provided with an engine from Boulton & Watt's foundry, with a cylinder 2 feet in diameter and 4 feet stroke, boiler, 20 feet long, 7 feet deep, and 8 feet broad. The diameter of the paddle wheels was 15 feet; boards, 4 feet long, and dipping 2 feet in the water.

The American Citizen, of August 17, 1807, says:—"Mr. Fulton's ingenious steamboat, invented with a view to the navigation of the Mississippi, from New Orleans upwards, sails to-day from the North River, near State's Prison, to Albany. The velocity of the steamboat is calculated at four miles an hour. It is said that it will make a progress of two against the current of the Mississippi, and, if so it will certainly be a very valuable acquisition to the commerce of the Western States."

On the return of the Clermont to New York, Mr. Fulton addressed the following letter:

NEW YORK, Aug. 21, 1807.

"To the Editor of the American Citizen:

SIR: I arrived this afternoon, at four o'clock, in the steamboat from Albany. As the success of my experiment gives me great hope that such boats may be rendered of much importance to my country, to prevent erroneous opinions, and give satisfaction to the friends of these useful improvements, you will have the goodness to publish the following facts:

"I left New York on Monday at 1 o'clock and arrived in Clermont, the seat of Chancellor Livingston, at 1 o'clock on Tuesday; time, 24 hours; distance, 110 miles; on Wednesday I departed from the Chancellor's at 9 o'clock in the morning, and arrived at Albany at 5 in the afternoon; distance, 40 miles; time, 8 hours. The sum of this is 150 miles in 32 hours, equal to near 5 miles an hour.

"On Thursday, at 9 o'clock in the morning, I left Albany, and arrived at the Chancellor's at 6 o'clock in the evening. I started from thence at 7, and arrived in New York at 4 in the afternoon; time, 30 hours; space ran through, 150 miles, equal to five miles an hour. Throughout the whole way, going and returning, the wind was ahead; no advantage could be drawn from my sails. The whole has therefore been performed by the power of the steam engine.

I am, sir, your most obedient,
ROBERT FULTON.

Wages and the Cost of Living.

From the Scientific American.

Comparing the present market prices of all the articles of necessity and luxury that go to make up the cost of living, with the prices that obtained when wages were higher, it will be seen that wages have fully held their own. And if men will make the same comparison with regard to men's earnings and purchases, twenty, fifty, a hundred years ago, they will see that—thanks to cheaper and more rapid means of production and carriage through mechanical invention—in every element of living, in housing, clothing, luxuries and the rest, the workingman of to day has infinite advantage over his father, grandfather or great-grandfather. And he enjoys a multitude of privileges and benefits, in stable government, personal liberty and protection, gratuitous education for his children, free medical attendance, pure water, lighted streets and other untaxed advantages which his ancestors never dreamed of or hoped for. His wages are higher, and his money will buy more, dollar for dollar, than his father's would.

We do not say that the real as well as relative cost of living is not advanced by every step forward in civilization. For ten days' work an East India Islander, according to Wallace, can manufacture or earn sago cakes enough to last him a year; and less labor will keep him supplied with the limited clothing he needs. A man needs more clothing here, and a greater variety of food; yet when it comes to the absolute necessities of men—the minimum cost of living—a very small portion of a man's yearly wages will keep him alive and comfortable. Thoreau built him a shanty in Walden woods and lived a year in it at a total cost of $27, and never approached either squalor or starvation. The experiment is of value only in that it proves it possible for a man to get as much bare living here for a given amount of labor as a Polynesian can. If one wants more—and very properly most men do want more—one must work for it; and our civilization happily offers at once more opportunity for labor, and infinitely more to be had for the proceeds of such labor, than have been attainable in any other land, under any other social or industrial conditions. And we doubt whether there was ever a time when industry and economy—using the term in its true sense of judicious management—would or could have met with a surer or more generous reward than in our own land to-day.

Testing the Cider.

Yesterday afternoon a farmer, having a barrel of cider on tap in his wagon, was doing a fine retail business near the market at five cents per glass, when a man with a very thin voice and very old clothes softly advanced and said:

"Has the State Inspector of Pomological Juices inspected that cider yet?"

"I—I guess not," replied the farmer, greatly embarrassed in a moment.

"I thought not," continued the thin voiced man; "well, sir you can draw me a full glass."

The farmer drew one, scanning the man with considerable anxiety, and when the "Inspector" had received it he held it up betweenn his eye and the sun, and said:

"The precipitation appears most too rapid, while these floating particles denote unusual compression. Perhaps a second glass will be clearer."

He swallowed the contents of the first at exactly four gulps, and taking a second glass he critically examined it and said:

"Ah! The precipitation is nearly clearing away. This cider seems to have been made from apples."

"It was, sir, and they were nice apples, too," replied the farmer.

"Let's see how a third glass will look. I am not quite satisfied with the point of compression."

He drained the second and received the third, and as he sipped it he inquired:

"You used a hard cidar press, didn't you?"

"Yes sir."

"Ah! I thought so. Worked with a lever, didn'trit?"

"Yes sir."

"Did the mill stand in a drought of air while you were working?"

"I—I—don't know sir."

"Well, I think it did. Be a little more careful after this. The Inspector of Pomological Juices grades this barrel 'A No. 2,' but if you take a little more you can ncrease the grade every time in future. All right, sir—go on with your selling.

The man had been ten minutes before any one mustered courage to remark that he was a fraud.

"I know he's all right, persisted the farmer. "The minnit I see him draw his coat tail around to wipe out the corner of his mouth I knew he was a big gun, and I was just shivering in my boots for fear he'd ask me why I didn't punch the seeds out of the apples before grinding."—Detroit Free Press.

"THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER."

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

For 1879 THE TRIBUNE hopes to continue with increasing success, the work and the methods which through the year now ending have won such popular approval and borne such ample fruit.

A year ago THE TRIBUNE pointed out the danger to the tranquility of the country, to the Treasury, the currency and the National honor, from the alliance then forming between the Solid South and Tammany Hall. It declared that against this danger the old party of freedom, still the party of the Churches and the Schoolhouses, was the only bulwark; and in behalf of that party, it renewed the old appeal to the National conscience, and the enlightened self-interest of the tax-payers.

In all this, events have justified it. The year has disclosed the danger. THE TRIBUNE predicted, and brought the deliverance it promised. It now asks those who think well of what it did in this eventful year to help widen yet further its influence by increasing its circulation for the next. It labored to harmonize the Republican party; to divert Republicans from attacks upon each other to attacks upon the common enemy. It exposed Southern claims. It denounced the Southern suppression of the negro vote. It resisted debasement of the currency. It endeavored to sustain the Treasury in advancing to specie payments. It strove to promote a practical reform in the Civil Service. It vindicated the legitimacy of the Republican Administration. It crushed assailants by demonstrating the infamous efforts of the Democratic leaders to buy the Presidency they had fairly lost at the polls. For these services a distinguished member of the Administration has declared that the Republican party and the country owe THE TRIBUNE a debt of gratitude so great that, despairing of full payment immediately, they must imitate the Treasury and fund it! Leading Republicans outside of and even opposed to the Administration, are everywhere heartily expressing similar opinions.

THE TRIBUNE now warns the country that, inspiring as the late elections have been, they do not end the danger. The Democrats and the Greenbackers, if united, could have reversed the verdict. They may be united next time. They already have the Solid South to begin with, as well as the evidence of the control their union would give in many of the Western States To prevent such a union from sweeping the country, we must keep the Republican party in the highest state of discipline and efficiency, and must educate the voters. If friends know any better agency for such political education than THE TRIBUNE, by all means use it; if not, they surely ought to make every effort to push THE TRIBUNE'S circulation.

THE TRIBUNE is now spending more labor and money than ever before to deserve the distinction it has long enjoyed of the largest circulation among the best people. It is the only newspaper in the country maintaining a special telegraphic wire of its own between its office and the National Capitol. Its Washington dispatches are much the fullest anywhere published. Its London correspondent, George W. Smalley, is recognized as the foremost in that field, on the American Press. Its other foreign correspondence ranks exceptionally high. Its scientific, religious and literary intelligence is often fuller, and generally more newsy than that furnished by journals expressly devoted to these specialties. Its critical departments, all conducted by the old heads, remain the acknowledged authorities:

New Books.....GEORGE RIPLEY, LL. D.
Music.....JOHN R G. HASSARD.
The Drama.....WILLIAM WINTER.
Art.....CLARENCE COOK.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE

Is specially adopted to the large class of intelligent readers too far from New York to depend on its papers for the daily news, who nevertheless want the editorials, correspondence, book-reviews, scientific matter, lectures, literary miscellany, etc., for which THE TRIBUNE is famous. This is the cheapest, and, for remote country readers, the best edition of THE TRIBUNE published. It contains sixteen pages, and is in convenient form for binding. It is far the most successful Semi-Weekly in the country—having four times the circulation of any other in NEW YORK.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE

Remains the great favorite for our substantial country population. A high authority has said of it that "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers and good citizens than any other single influence that has ever existed in this country." It is now larger than any of its rivals; its new form (sixteen pages, carefully indexed and suitable for binding), has proved exceedingly popular, and its large, clear type, so different from that of most papers of its class, is a special attraction. Its agricultural department, under the special management of an experienced agricultural editor, with a staff of several assistants, and a large corps of special contributors, is more carefully conducted than ever, and it has always been considered the best. Its market reports are the official standard for the Dairymen's Association, and have long been the recognized authority on cattle, grain and general country produce. There are special departments for the young, and for household interests; while poetry, fiction, and the humors of the day are all abundantly supplied. During the ensuing year there may also be expected, among many other features: (1) Some Personal Reminiscences of Early Anti-Slavery Work, by OLIVER JOHNSON; (2) Further Contributions on Southern Agriculture, by SOLON ROBINSON; (3) Occasional Papers on Current Topics, by the Rev. JOHN HALL, D. D; (4) Occasional Contributions by GAIL HAMILTON; and other attractive matter from writers of equal note.

TWO PAPERS IN ONE.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE is now so arranged as to make two complete and separate papers of eight pages each, the first containing the news and politics, the second, the correspondence, fiction, poetry, household departments, etc. Both sides of the family can thus enjoy the paper at the same time. During the past year readers have found this a specially attractive and convenient feature.

NO RIVALS TO COMPARE IT WITH.

Both WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE are now entirely unlike the corresponding issues from any other daily office in New York—wholly different in form and appearance, with larger type, and only comparable to the three and four dollar religious or literary journals. The price however, remains so far below theirs as to defy competition; and the premiums are more valuable and substantial than have ever been offered by other newspapers.

The Great Premium
WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED FREE.

Last year THE TRIBUNE offered to five years' single subscribers the unprecedented gift of WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED QUARTO PICTORIAL DICTIONARY, which retails in all bookstores for $12. The offer proved probably the greatest success in the history of newspaper premiums. TEN THOUSAND of these huge Dictionaries were distributed and not one single subscriber complained that he was dissatisfied with his premium. We have at last succeeded in renewing the very favorable contract with the publishers (which alone enabled us to offer this magnificent premium), until April 1, 1879. The publishers positively refuse to let it extend beyond that time. We therefore urge all to avail themselves of the offer at once, and to advise their friends and neighbors of the opportunity. We are extending the terms of the offer, this year, a little, as follows:

We will send Webster's Unabridged Pictorial Quarto Dictionary (edition of 1879), bound in sheep, the latest and best edition, as a gift to any one remitting us

$10 for a single five-years' subscription, in advance, or	THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE
$16 for eight 1-year subscriptions to $2 for a single five-years' subscription in advance, or	THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE
$30 for ten one-year subscriptions to $30 for a single three years' subscription, in advance, to	THE DAILY TRIBUNE

We believe this to be the most valuable and liberal newspaper premium ever offered. We cannot make it any more liberal, and to avoid useless correspondence we give notice that the dictionary will only be sent on exact compliance with the above terms. It is not offered, under any circumstances, to persons remitting for clubs at regular club rates. We do, however, make the following liberal offer of

PREMIUMS TO FRIENDS SENDING LOCAL CLUBS:

For a Club of 5 Weeklies—Any five TRIBUNE Novels
For a Club of 10 Weeklies	An extra copy of THE WEEKLY, or a copy of the Greeley Memorial Volume, in cloth, or any eight of THE TRIBUNE Novels.
For a Club of 20 Weeklies	THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE; or one extra WEEKLY, and either Mr Greeley's "Political Economy," or "What I Know of Farming" [$1 50 each at retail.
For a Club of 30 Weeklies	THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, and any eight of THE TRIBUNE Novels; or Mr Greeley's "Recollections of a Busy Life," in sheep $2 50 at retail,) and the same Novels.
For a Club of 50 Weeklies	THE DAILY TRIBUNE one year, and either of the above mentioned books, or the series of TRIBUNE Novels.

[One Semi-Weekly will count as two Weeklies in the above. Double numbers of THE TRIBUNE Novels count as two.]

Instead of any five TRIBUNE novels, we will send, if preferred, pamphlet copies, in good type, of THE TRIBUNE'S verbatim report of The Prophetic Conference, and THE TRIBUNE'S full exposure of The Cipher Telegrams. The same, in sheet-form, in place of any three TRIBUNE novels.

THE GREATEST PREMIUM YET.
A $210 Estey Organ Free.

Finally, THE TRIBUNE makes an offer to churches, musical societies, and others, more amazing than anything yet done in the history of newspaper premiums. For 200 subscriptions from one post office, or its immediate vicinity, to THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE, at the lowest club rate $1 25 each), we will send, postage paid, the 200 papers, addressed to individual subscribers, for one year, and will send also to the church or person forwarding the club the $210 Estey organ, confessedly the best in the market—style 501, double reed, seven stops, viz.: diapason, melodia, viola, vox jubilante, tremolo, 1 forte and 11 forte. Thus, for 200 subscriptions to THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE at the lowest club rate, the club receives $250 in newspapers, and $210 in the finest organ of its size made in America.

Further information, posters and specimen copies, sent on application. Address simply

AMERICAN ANTIQUITIES.

The Western Cliff-Dwellers—Remarkable Stone Dwellings.

Of late, blown over the plains, come stories of strange, newly discovered cities of the far southwest; picturesque piles of masonry, of an age unknown to tradition. These ruins mark an era among antiquarians. The mysterious mound builders fade into comparative insignificance before the grander and more ancient cliff dwellers, whose castles lift their towers amid the sands of Arizona and crowd the terraced slopes of the Rio Mancos and the Hovenwep [pronounced Hov-en-weep.]

The ruin, accidentally discovered by A. D. Wilson of the Hayden survey several years ago, while he was pursuing his labors as chief of the topographical corps in southern Colorado, is described to me by Mr. Wilson as a stone building, about the size of the patent office. It stood upon the bank of the Animas, in the San Juan country, and contained perhaps five hundred rooms. The roof and portions of the walls had fallen, but the part standing indicated a height of four stories. A number of the rooms were fairly preserved, had small loop hole windows, but no outer doors. The building had doubtless been entered originally by means of ladders resting on niches, and drawn in after the occupants. The floors were of cedar, each log as large around as a man's head, the spaces filled neatly by smaller poles and twigs, covered by a carpet of cedar bark. The ends of the timber were bruised and frayed, as if severed by a dull instrument; in the vicinity were stone hatchets, and saws made of sandstone slivers about two feet long, worn to a very smooth edge. A few hundred yards from the mammoth building was a second large house in ruins, between the two strongholds rows of small dwellings, built of cobble stones laid in adobe, and arranged along streets, after the style of the village of to-day. The smaller houses were in a more advanced state of ruin, on account of the round stones being more readily disintigrated by the elements than the heavy masonry. The streets and houses of this deserted town are overgrown by juniper and pinon,—the latter a dwarf wide-spreading pine which bears beneath the scales of its cones delicious and nutritious nuts. From the size of the dead, as well as the living, trees, and from their position on the heaps of crumbling stone, Mr. Wilson concludes that a great period of time has elapsed since the buildings fell. How many hundred years they stood after desertion before yielding to the inroads of time cannot be certainly known.

The presence of sound wood in the houses does not set aside their antiquity. In the dry, pure air of Southern Colorado, wood fairly protected will last for centuries. In Asia, cedar wood has been kept a thousand years, and in Egypt cedar is known to have been in perfect preservation two thousand years after it left the forest. The cedars throughout the territories of the southwest do not rot, even in the groves. They die and stand erect, solid and sapless. The winds and whirling sands carve the dead drill holes through the trunks, and play hide-and-go-seek in the perforated limbs until, after ages of resistance, they literally blow away in atoms of fine, clean dust.

On the Rio San Juan, about twenty-five miles distant from the city of the Animas, Mr. Wilson discovered the following evening a similar pile, looming solemnly in the twilight near their camping place. The scene as described was weird in the extreme. As the moon arose, the shadows of the phantom buildings were thrown darkly across the silvery plain. The blaze of camp-fires, the tiny tents, the negro cook, the men in buckskin hunting garb, and the picketed mules, made a strange picture of the summer's night, with background of moonlit desert and crumbling ruins, on whose ramparts towered dead, gaunt cedars, lifting their bleached skeletons like sheeted ghosts within the silent watch-towers of the murky past.—Scribner.

ANCIENT PLAGUES OF DEATH.

The Scourges That Ravaged Asia and Africa in Distant Times—Victims by Millions.

Dr. F. L. Oswald in Popular Science Monthly.

The black death that ravaged Asia and Southern Europe in the fourteenth century spared the Mohammedan countries—Persia, Turkistan, Morroco and Southern Spain—whose inhabitants generally abstain from pork and intoxicating drinks. In the Byzantine Empire, Russia, Germany, Northern Spain (inhabited by the Christian Visigoths) and Italy, 4,000,000 died between 1373 and 1375, but the monasteries of the stricter orders and the frugal peasants of Calabria and Sicily enjoyed their usual health (which they, of course, ascribed to the favor of their tutelar saints); but among the cities which suffered most were Barcelona, Lyons, Florence and Moscow, the first three situated on rocky mountain slopes, with no lack of drainage and pure water, while the steppes of the Upper Volga are generally dry and salubrious.

The pestilence of 1720 spent away 52,000, or more than two thirds of the 75,000 inhabitants of Marseilles, in less than five weeks; but of the 6,000 abstemious Spaniards that inhabited the "Suburb of the Catalans" only 200 died, or less than 4 per cent.

The most destructive epidemic record d in authentic history was the four years' plague that commenced at Alexandria, Egypt, in A. D. 542, and raged through the dominions of Chosroes the Great, the Byzantine Empire, northern Africa and southwestern Europe. It commenced in Egypt, spread to the east over Syria, Persia and the Indies, and penetrated to the west along the coast of Africa and over the continent of Europe, Asia Minor, with its plethoric cities. Constantinople, Northern Italy and France suffered fearfully; entire provinces were abandoned, cities died out and remained vacant for many years, and during three months 5,000 and at last 10,000 persons died at Constantinople each day! (Gibbon's "History;") and the total number of victims in the three continents is variously estimated at from 75,000,000 to 120,000,000. But in Sicily, Morocco, and Albania the disease was confined to a few seaport towns and the Caucasus and Arabia escaped entirely.

This dreadful plague made its first appearance in Alexandria, Egypt, then a luxurious city of 800,000 inhabitants, and Paulus Diaconus, a contemporary historian, speaks of the "reckless gluttony by which the inhabitants of the great capital incurred yearly fevers and dangerous indigestions; and at last brought this terrible judgment upon themselves and their innocent neighbors." Alexandria lost 500,000 of her inhabitants in 542, and 800,000 in the following year, and for miles around the city the fields were covered with unburied corpses; but the monks of the Nitrian desert (3,000 of them had devoted themselves to the task of collecting and burying the dead) lost only fifty of their fraternity, who, with few exceptions, confessed that they had secretly violated the ascetic rules of their order.

Grabbing and Gambling.

"And there are your grab-bags—your grab bags! I tell you there is too much of this. Your fairs and your bazars won't do, and your voting, your casting of votes for the most popular man or the most popular woman, just helping along their vanity. It grieves the spirit, it offends God. They've got so far now that for twenty-five cents young men can come in and kiss the handsomest woman in the room. Think o' this! Look at the church lotteries going on in New York. Before God I would rather preach in any barn or the most miserable hovel on earth, than within the walls of a church paid for in such a way. What is the use of going to a gambling den when you can have a game of grab with a lady for a partner?" Of church choirs which are not composed of Christians he disapproves in the same emphatic way: "I tell you it's about time you stopped hiring ungodly men and ungodly women to sing in your church choirs, just because they happen to have a good voice. You smile. I tell you it's no smiling matter. You ought to blush with shame; that's what you ought to do. And there is such a thing as having an organist who gets drunk, and who can't play but he must go back every now and then to take a drink to refresh him."—Moody.

We sincerely hope there are no readers of the Gazette foolish enough to believe a single one of the above statements, although they look reasonable compared with the advertisements of other clothing stores in the City. They are giving you what is vulgarly termed "TAFFY." to get you into their stores, where you are worked up for an offer,---no sooner made than accepted. Our easiest customers to sell are the ones who have been the rounds and escaped, because our first price astonishes them, and all we have to do is to fit them out and they are happy.

My practice not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1878.

CITY AND COUNTY.

HOLIDAY ADVERTISERS.

During the balance of this month we will insert reading business notices, in the brief item column.

BRIEFLETS.

—Moonlight nights.

—The church folk meet for prayer to-night.

—Better have the mumps than the dumps.

—The churches are making ready for Christmas.

—Sheriff Colley now has five and twenty boarders.

—Rothinger's brewery has been rented to Rosa & Co.

—Rev. Mr. Sanderson had three weddings yesterday.

—Burr Robbins' lion, who got loose, is now safely caged again.

—Vankirk sells solid meat, quart-can oysters at 25 cents per can.

—The Circuit Court now pays no attention to daylight or dark, but grinds away from early to late.

—The funeral services of Vinnie Mc Culloch will be held at the residence to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

—Rev. Dr. Miller, formerly of this city, is attending the conference now in session, and is warmly greeted by many friends.

—The Waupun Times notes the fact that Mrs. Reed, of Janesville, is visiting her brother, Mr. White, deputy warden of the prison.

—Rev. Dr. Steele, President of Lawrence University, Appleton, is in the city attending the Conference of the Methodist parsons.

—Vankirk is making very low prices for cash on all staple and fancy groceries. It will pay all to get his prices before purchasing.

—Rev. T. P. Sawin delivered his lecture on "Mirabeau," at Fort Atkinson last night, before a large audience, who seemed to appreciate the effort.

—Dr. O'Leary announces for the subject of his lecture to-night, "Marriage and Divorce." There are a good many interested in both, and there will be a crowd to hear him.

—Rev. Mr. Royce will next Saturday afternoon lecture before the ladies of the Mutual Improvement Club on "Mohammedanism. It is said to be one of the rector's best.

—Another Bill settled. We understand that Mr. Wm. H. Buckingham has decided to resume his old business of cabinet making, at Jefferson. He is said to be a good one in that line.

—A large number of white fish are shown up in the market places they being caught at Madison. The lakes there were seeded down several years ago and the harvest now begins.

—Any man who is not satisfied with his quarters can easily make a change now-a-days. New quarters are plenty at twenty-five cents each, but the trouble is sometimes to get the twenty-five cents.

—C. M. Hodson, of this city, has been chosen as one of the executive committee of the Wisconsin State Millers' Association at their convention which closed its session in Milwaukee yesterday afternoon.

—Hyatt Haselton, who has been in Iowa the past eight months has returned to Janesville, and his friends will be pleased to learn that he will be found at Geo. Stockton's dry goods house. Call and see him.

—An exchange notes the fact that snow shovels havn't come in play yet. We never saw a snow shovel come in play any winter, for it is anything but play to scoop snow drifts off from the sidewalks of a corner lot.

—The members of the Court Street Literary Society will meet next Wednesday night to discuss the life and character of Queen Elizabeth. Their public entertainment will be given one week from Wednesday night.

—Mrs. Brown for assaulting Sumner Parker's boy was yesterday afternoon fined $5, and her boy, who helped in the assault was taxed $1. Costs were added to the fines in both cases, and both bills were promptly settled.

—Some of the stern and staid lawyers who have grown gray in the service as married men, are renewing their youth. Night before last they indulged in "court-in" till midnight, but then the libel suit was taking up so much time that there seemed no way to get through except to hold evening sessions.

—Prof. Carpenter had a better audience last evening than on any previous night, and made the usual amount of fun by mesmerizing different subjects to such an extent that they would hug and kiss an old broom in the firm belief that it was a charming young miss. In this they were a-miss, but it made fun for the boys just the same.

—The trial of young Lee, charged with burglary, is in progress at Waukesha, to-day. A number of witnesses went from here last night among them being McKivitt, the lad who confesses to have taken part in the burglary, and who proposes to squeal lustily on his comrades. Lee seems determined to make as heavy costs for the State as possible.

—More new novelties at Wheelock's crockery store. Telephones, Kaleidoscopes, Magic Ball Tricks, Cut Cord Tricks, Eureka Wall Protectors and Towel Racks combined, 75 cts., Lap Boards of three kinds, Butter Dishes, Castors, Spoon Holders, and Vases in Silver Plate and Glass combined, at $1.50. An immense variety of New Ceramics pretty and cheap.

—Dr. Horne now goes around with his left hand bundled up, in consequence of a bad gash which he received from a razor yesterday afternoon. He was sharpening the razor when his little grandaughter accidentally hit his elbow. The gash was an ugly one and the blood spurted from an artery lively, but he held a firm grasp on it until Dr. Loomis came and fixed it up.

—The Temple of Honor in arranging for its annual entertainment to take place Friday evening, December 27, has engaged Walter Helms to give a solo on his saxophone. Besides this attraction there will be other music as well as recitations. The floor will be covered with canvas for a merry dance after the entertainment and Berrie & Rubin's orchestra have been engaged to furnish music.

HYMENEAL.

GAGE-BALL.

There was a happy wedding party yesterday at the residence of Mrs. William Winans, on Milton avenue, it being the occasion of the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Fanny Winans Ball to Mr. James P. Gage. Rev. J. W. Sanderson made the twain one, in a brief and impressive ceremony. Hearty congratulations followed and after a repast the happy couple took the Southward bound train, en route for St. Louis. Their trip will take two weeks or so, after which they will be "at home" in this city. The many friends of both join in wishing them the happiest of futures.

HAPPY HEARTS.

ROBERTS—HACKLEY.

Last evening at the residence of Dr. L. E. Hackley, No. 42 South Main street, a matrimonial event took place, of interest to the social circles of this city, it being the marriage of his eldest daughter, Miss Mary E. Hackley to Mr. William E. Roberts, Rev. Mr. Sanderson conducted the ceremony, in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. The gathering was not a formal one, and the invitations were limited, but to those who were present the occasion was as joyous as it was interesting. The wedding gifts were numerous and embraced a great variety of useful and ornamental tokens of friendship and well-wishes. After a suitable repast had been partaken, the happy couple took the evening train for Milwaukee, from whence they will soon return to take up their residence in this city. The congratulations and well-wishes of those who witnessed the ceremony will be re-echoed with no less heartiness by many warm and true friends and admirers of both parties, and that a long and happy life may be theirs is the hope of all.

OBITUARY.

ISAAC S. HAWK.

Mr. Isaac S. Hawk, one of the well known and highly respected residents of Center, died at his home on the morning of December 1, aged 63 years. He was born in New Jersey, and when but a child, removed to Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, from whence, 23 years ago, he came to this place, where his home has since been. Active and energetic in labor, he was successful in acquiring a competence. His illness, continuing more than a year, was of such a nature as to baffle the efforts of medical skill to stay its progress, and respected and loved by a wide circle of relatives and friends he went down to the grave. He was an official member of the M. E. church at Footville. In the erection of the new church edifice there he took an active part, and from it his remains were borne to their resting place in the Grove cemetery. A large congregation assembled to pay tokens of respect to his memory, and to follow him to his grave.

COURTLY CONDIMENTS.

The libel suit of Whitford vs. Goodrich was concluded last evening as far as the testimony was concerned. Thus far the case has occupied eighteen days, and the days have been of goodly length, the Court sitting night before last until 12 o'clock. A faint idea of the mass of testimony introduced may be gained from the fact that nearly one hundred witnesses were examined. To-day the lawyers are preparing to argue the case and the war of words will commence to-morrow, Mr. Cassoday firing the opening shot in behalf of the plaintiff. Mr. Fethers and Mr. Winans will follow with a showing of the defendant's cause and Mr. Bennett, for the plaintiff, will close. The Judge will probably give his charge to the jury on Monday.

Mason, the alleged burglar, was arraigned yesterday and pleaded not guilty. His trial, and those of Mrs. Mack and Dickinson will prove the leading features of interest in the criminal docket to be tried next week.

To-day several motions in civil cases were argued.

CLOSE OF THE CONFERENCE.

The Methodist ministers of Janesville district continued their conference last evening by a discussion of the best methods of promoting a genuine revival of religion. A variety of views were expressed, the speakers being Rev. I. S. Leavitt, of Stoughton, Dr. Miller, of Milwaukee, Dr. Steele, of Appleton, Rev. G. W. Wells, of Whitewater, Rev. W. P. Stowe, of Janesville and others.

This morning was the concluding session of the conference. The opening religious services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Eldredge. The special topic of discussion this morning was the consideration of church periodicals and literature. Rev. T. Clithero opened the discussion, and was followed by Rev. Mr. Leavitt, Dr. Steele, Rev. Mr. Stowe and others. The rest of the morning was taken up in listening to reports from the several charges there represented, after which adjournment was taken. Most of the ministers left on the afternoon trains for their respective homes. The Conference has been an interesting and profitable one to all who attended.

ODD FELLOWS' OFFICERS.

Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F. last night elected its officers as follows:

N. G.—Joseph Creighton.
V. G.—H. C. Hadley.
R. S.—J. S. Clark.
P. S.—B. H. Baldwin.
Treas.—I. C. Brownell.
Trustee—J. Howland for three years

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 27 degrees above and at two o'clock this afternoon at 38 degrees above. Clear. One year ago to day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 33 and 34 degrees above.

The indications are to-day, for the upper lake region, partly cloudy weather, variable winds, mostly westerly, stationary or higher temperature, and nearly stationary barometer.

ALBION.

—The present term of school is to open Dec. 10th, instead of Dec. 18th, as stated in last week's issue.

—A quiet wedding took place last Friday evening, Prof. A. R. Cornwall officiating. The parties united were David Powers, of Adamsville, Iowa Co., and Gertrude Burdick, of this place.

—Most of those who attended the Thanksgiving party report a good time.

—James Dates came down from Lake Mills with a livery team to spend Thanksgiving, while here he drove up in front of E. L. Burdick's store and stopped, when one of the horses threw itself in the harness. Help was at hand and the team were separated, when the down horse sprang up and reared over backwards, almost instantly killing it.

SHOPIERE.

—Thanksgiving day has once more come and gone. A goodly number joined in the union services at the M. E. church, where Rev. Mr. Webb delivered the Thanksgiving sermon the text: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." The discourse was good, and ended with a fervent prayer, thanking God for past mercies, and imploring the cantinuance of the same. Then with the benediction, the congregation dispersee.

—Thanksgiving evening there was a festival at the M. E. church, which resulted in a pleasant entertainment, and aided the church financially.

—For the past two weeks, Prof. J. M. Stillman, of Chicago, has been holding a musical institute at this place. He is a very efficient teacher, as the marked improvement of the class clearly demonstrates. The institute closed Saturday evening, with a grand concert. The chorus singing was fine. Miss Wilson, Miss Mary Parker, and Miss Mary Culver sang solos, which were well worthy of commendation. Prof. Stillman sang "Save the Boy," an effective temperance song. "The Professor at Home." brought down the house! And the closing piece—"Old King Cole"—a song for men's voice, with simulated fiddle, drum, sub base and bag pipe, was exceedingly laughable. We were all highly pleased with the concert, and those who attended the Institute were perfectly satisfied, and hope Mr. Stillman will come again.

—We are very sorroy to learn that the scarlet fever has made its appearance near here. Look out for the little ones.

—Old Mr. Thomas who has been quite ill, is a very little better; we hope for his recovery.

Mrs. Sarah A. Elliott,

Authoress of "Mrs. Elliott's Housewife," Oxford, N. C. writes: I was among the first that used the "London Hair Color Restorer" in this section, and recommended it to M A & C A Santos, Norfolk, Va., as the most beautiful hair dresser and preserver I had ever seen. I was advised by an eminent physician to use it. Since doing so, it has proved so satisfactory in restoring and beautifying my hair, as well as strengthening my eyesight, that I have recommended it to the druggists here in Oxford, Raleigh, and a great many of my friends, and believe I have from what others say, caused it to have a wide and extended sale, and deservedly so, as it certainly is the most cleanly and effective hair restorer now before the American people. The "London Hair Color Restorer" can be obtained at all the leading druggists at 75 cents a bottle, or $4 for six bottles. jy30deodwly-4

CITY AND COUNTY.

HOLIDAY ADVERTISERS.

During the balance of this month we will insert reading business notices, in the brief item column.

BRIEFLETS.

—Moonlight nights.

—The church folk meet for prayer to-night.

—Better have the mumps than the dumps.

—The churches are making ready for Christmas.

—Sheriff Colley now has five and twenty boarders.

—Rœthinger's brewery has been rented to Rosa & Co.

—Rev. Mr. Sanderson had three weddings yesterday.

—Burr Robbins' lion, who got loose, is now safely caged again.

—Vankirk sells solid meat, quart-can oysters at 25 cents per can.

—The Circuit Court now pays no attention to daylight or dark, but grinds away from early to late.

—The funeral services of Vinnie Mc Culloch will be held at the residence to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

—Rev. Dr. Miller, formerly of this city, is attending the conference now in session, and is warmly greeted by many friends.

—The Waupun Times notes the fact that Mrs. Reed, of Janesville, is visiting her brother, Mr. White, deputy warden of the prison.

—Rev. Dr. Steele, President of Lawrence University, Appleton, is in the city attending the Conference of the Methodist parsons.

—Vankirk is making very low prices for cash on all staple and fancy groceries. It will pay all to get his prices before purchasing.

—Rev. T. P. Sawin delivered his lecture on "Mirabeau," at Fort Atkinson last night, before a large audience, who seemed to appreciate the effort.

—Dr. O'Leary announces for the subject of his lecture to-night, "Marriage and Divorce." There are a good many interested in both, and there will be a crowd to hear him.

—Rev. Mr. Royce will next Saturday afternoon lecture before the ladies of the Mutual Improvement Club on "Mohammedanism. It is said to be one of the rector's best.

—Another Bill settled. We understand that Mr. Wm. H. Buckingham has decided to resume his old business of cabinet making, at Jefferson. He is said to be a good one in that line.

—A large number of white fish are shown up in the market places they being caught at Madison. The lakes there were seeded down several years ago and the harvest now begins.

—Any man who is not satisfied with his quarters can easily make a change now-a-days. New quarters are plenty at twenty-five cents each, but the trouble is sometimes to get the twenty-five cents.

—C. M. Hodson, of this city, has been chosen as one of the executive committee of the Wisconsin State Millers' Association, at their convention which closed its sesion in Milwaukee yesterday afternoon.

—Hyatt Haselton, who has been in Iowa the past eight months has returned to Janesville, and his friends will be pleased to learn that he will be found at Geo. Stockton's dry goods house. Call and see him.

—An exchange notes the fact that snow shovels havn't come in play yet. We never saw a snow shovel come in play any winter, for it is anything but play to scoop snow drifts off from the sidewalks of a corner lot.

—The members of the Court Street Literary Society will meet next Wednesday night to discuss the life and character of Queen Elizabeth. Their public entertainment will be given one week from Wednesday night.

—Mrs. Brown for assaulting Sumner Parker's boy was yesterday afternoon fined $5, and her boy, who helped in the assault was taxed $1. Costs were added to the fines in both cases, and both bills were promptly settled.

—Some of the stern and staid lawyers who have grown gray in the service as married men, are renewing their youth. Night before last they indulged in "court-in" till midnight, but then the libel suit was taking up so much time that there seemed no way to get through except to hold evening sessions.

—Prof. Carpenter had a better audience last evening than on any previous night, and made the usual amount of fun by mesmerizing different subjects to such an extent that they would hug and kiss an old broom in the firm belief that it was a charming young miss. In this they were a-miss, but it made fun for the boys just the same.

—The trial of young Lee, charged with burglary, is in progress at Waukesha, to-day. A number of witnesses went from here last night among them being McKivitt, the lad who confesses to have taken part in the burglary, and who proposes to squeal lustily on his comrades. Lee seems determined to make as heavy costs for the State as possible.

—More new novelties at Wheelock's crockery store. Telephones, Kaleidoscopes, Magic Ball Tricks, Cut Cord Tricks, Eureka Wall Protectors and Towel Racks combined, 75 cts., Lap Boards of three kinds, Butter Dishes, Castors, Spoon Holders, and Vases in Silver Plate and Glass combined, at $1.50. An immense variety of New Ceramics pretty and cheap.

—Dr. Horne now goes around with his left hand bundled up, in consequence of a bad gash which he received from a razor yesterday afternoon. He was sharpening the razor when his little grandaughter accidentally hit his elbow. The gash was an ugly one and the blood spurted from an artery lively, but he held a firm grasp on it until Dr. Loomis came and fixed it up.

—The Temple of Honor in arranging for its annual entertainment to take place Friday evening, December 27, has engaged Walter Helms to give a solo on his saxophone. Besides this attraction there will be other music as well as recitations. The floor will be covered with canvas for a merry dance after the entertainment and Berrie & Rubin's orchestra have been engaged to furnish music.

HYMENEAL.

GAGE-BALL.

There was a happy wedding party yesterday at the residence of Mrs. William Winans, on Milton avenue, it being the occasion of the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Fanny Winans Ball to Mr. James P. Gage. Rev. J. W. Sanderson made the twain one, in a brief and impressive ceremony. Hearty congratulations followed and after a repast the happy couple took the Southward bound train, en route for St. Louis. Their trip will take two weeks or so, after which they will be "at home" in this city. The many friends of both join in wishing them the happiest of futures.

HAPPY HEARTS.

ROBERTS—HACKLEY.

Last evening at the residence of Dr. L. E. Hackley, No 42 South Main street, a matrimonial event took place, of interest to the social circles of this city, it being the marriage of his eldest daughter, Miss Mary E. Hackley to Mr. William E. Roberts, Rev. Mr. Sanderson conducted the ceremony, in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. The gathering was not a formal one, and the invitations were limited, but to those who were present the occasion was as joyous as it was interesting. The wedding gifts were numerous and embraced a great variety of useful and ornamental tokens of friendship and well-wishes. After a suitable repast had been partaken, the happy couple took the evening train for Milwaukee, from whence they will soon return to take up their residence in this city. The congratulations and well-wishes of those who witnessed the ceremony will be re-echoed with no less heartiness by many warm and true friends and admirers of both parties, and that a long and happy life may be theirs is the hope of all.

OBITUARY.

ISAAC S. HAWK.

Mr. Isaac S. Hawk, one of the well known and highly respected residents of Center, died at his home on the morning of December 1, aged 63 years. He was born in New Jersey, and when but a child, removed to Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, from whence, 23 years ago, he came to this place, where his home has since been. Active and energetic in labor, he was successful in acquiring a competence. His illness, continuing more than a year, was of such a nature as to baffle the efforts of medical skill to stay its progress, and respected and loved by a wide circle of relatives and friends he went down to the grave. He was an official member of the M. E. church at Footville. In the erection of the new church edifice there he took an active part, and from it his remains were borne to their resting place in the Grove cemetery. A large congregation assembled to pay tokens of respect to his memory, and to follow him to his grave.

COURTLY CONDIMENTS.

The libel suit of Whitford vs. Goodrich was concluded last evening as far as the testimony was concerned. Thus far the case has occupied eighteen days, and the days have been of goodly length, the Court sitting night before last until 12 o'clock. A faint idea of the mass of testimony introduced may be gained from the fact that nearly one hundred witnesses were examined. To-day the lawyers are preparing to argue the case and the war of words will commence to-morrow, Mr. Cassoday firing the opening shot in behalf of the plaintiff. Mr. Fethers and Mr. Winans will follow with a showing of the defendant's cause and Mr. Bennett, for the plaintiff, will close. The Judge will probably give his charge to the jury on Monday.

Mason, the alleged burglar, was arraigned yesterday and pleaded not guilty. His trial, and those of Mrs. Mack and Dickinson will prove the leading features of interest in the criminal docket to be tried next week.

To-day several motions in civil cases were argued.

CLOSE OF THE CONFERENCE.

The Methodist ministers of Janesville district continued their conference last evening by a discussion of the best methods of promoting a genuine revival of religion. A variety of views were expressed, the speakers being Rev. I. S. Leavitt, of Stoughton, Dr. Miller, of Milwaukee, Dr. Steele, of Appleton, Rev. G. W. Wells, of Whitewater, Rev. W. P. Stowe, of Janesville and others.

This morning was the concluding session of the conference. The opening religious services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Eldredge. The special topic of discussion this morning was the consideration of church periodicals and literature. Rev. T. Clithero opened the discussion, and was followed by Rev. Mr. Leavitt, Dr. Steele, Rev. Mr. Stowe and others. The rest of the morning was taken up in listening to reports from the several charges there represented, after which adjournment was taken. Most of the ministers left on the afternoon trains for their respective homes. The Conference has been an interesting and profitable one to all who attended.

ODD FELLOWS' OFFICERS.

Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F. last night elected its officers as follows:

N. G.—Joseph Creighton.
V. G.—H. C. Hadley.
R. S.—J. S. Clark.
P. S.—B. H. Baldwin.
Treas.—I. C. Brownell.
Trustee—J. Howland for three years.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 27 degrees above and at two o'clock this afternoon at 38 degrees above. Clear. One year ago to day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 33 and 34 degrees above.

The indications are to-day, for the upper lake region, partly cloudy weather, variable winds, mostly westerly, stationary or higher temperature, and nearly stationary barometer.

ALBION.

—The present term of school is to open Dec. 10th, instead of Dec. 18th, as stated in last week's issue.

—A quiet wedding took place last Friday evening, Prof. A. R. Cornwall officiating. The parties united were David Powers, of Adamsville, Iowa Co., and Gertrude Burdick, of this place.

—Most of those who attended the Thanksgiving party report a good time.

—James Dates came down from Lake Mills with a livery team to spend Thanksgiving, while here he drove up in front of E. L. Burdick's store and stopped, when one of the horses threw itself in the harness. Help was at hand and the team were separated, when the down horse sprang up and reared over backwards, almost instantly killing it.

SHOPIERE.

—Thanksgiving day has once more come and gone. A goodly number joined in the union services at the M. E. church, where Rev. Mr. Webb delivered the Thanksgiving sermon the text: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." The discourse was good, and ended with a fervent prayer, thanking God for past mercies, and imploring the cantinuance of the same. Then with the benediction, the congregation dispersee.

—Thanksgiving evening there was a festival at the M. E. church, which resulted in a pleasant entertainment, and aided the church financially.

—For the past two weeks, Prof. J. M. Stillman, of Chicago, has been holding a musical institute at this place. He is a very efficient teacher, as the marked improvement of the class clearly demonstrates. The institute closed Saturday evening, with a grand concert. The chorus singing was fine. Miss Wilson, Miss Mary Parker, and Miss Mary Culver sang solos, which were well worthy of commendation. Prof. Stillman sang "Save the Boy," an effective temperance song. "The Professor at Home." brought down the house! And the closing piece—"Old King Cole"—a song for men's voice, with simulated fiddle, drum, sub base and bag pipe, was exceedingly laughable. We were all highly pleased with the concert, and those who attended the Institute were perfectly satisfied, and hope Mr. Stillman will come again.

—We are very sorroy to learn that the scarlet fever has made its appearance near here. Look out for the little ones.

—Old Mr. Thomas who has been quite ill, is a very little better; we hope for his recovery.

Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

I was advised by an eminent physician to use it. Since doing so, it has proved so satisfactory in restoring and beautifying my hair, as well as strengthening my eyesight, that I have recommended it to the druggists here in Oxford, Raleigh, and a great many of my friends, and believe I have from what others say, caused it to have a wide and extended sale, and deservedly so, as it certainly is the most cleanly and effective hair restorer now before the American people. AMERICAN ANTIQUITIES.

The Western Cliff-Dwellers—Remarkable Stone Dwellings.

Of late, blown over the plains, come stories of strange, newly discovered cities of the far southwest; picturesque piles of masonry, of an age unknown to tradition. These ruins mark an era among antiquarians. The mysterious mound builders fade into comparative insignificance before the grander and more ancient cliff dwellers, whose castles lift their towers amid the sands of Arizona and crowd the terraced slopes of the Rio Mancos and the Hovenwep [pronounced Hov-en-weep.]

The ruin, accidentally discovered by A. D. Wilson of the Hayden survey several years ago, while he was pursuing his labors as chief of the topographical corps in southern Colorado, is described to me by Mr. Wilson as a stone building, about the size of the patent office. It stood upon the bank of the Animas, in the San Juan country, and contained perhaps five hundred rooms. The roof and portions of the walls had fallen, but the part standing indicated a height of four stories. A number of the rooms were fairly preserved, had small loop hole windows, but no outer doors. The building had doubtless been entered originally by means of ladders resting on niches, and drawn in after the occupants. The floors were of cedar, each log as large around as a man's head, the spaces filled neatly by smaller poles and twigs, covered by a carpet of cedar bark. The ends of the timber were bruised and frayed, as if severed by a dull instrument; in the vicinity were stone hatchets, and saws made of sandstone slivers about two feet long, worn to a very smooth edge. A few hundred yards from the mammoth building was a second large house in ruins, between the two strongholds rows of small dwellings, built of cobble stones laid in adobe, and arranged along streets, after the style of the village of to-day. The smaller houses were in a more advanced state of ruin, on account of the round stones being more readily disintigrated by the elements than the heavy masonry. The streets and houses of this deserted town are overgrown by juniper and pinon,—the latter a dwarf wide-spreading pine which bears beneath the scales of its cones delicious and nutritious nuts. From the size of the dead, as well as the living, trees, and from their position on the heaps of crumbling stone, Mr. Wilson concludes that a great period of time has elapsed since the buildings fell. How many hundred years they stood after desertion before yielding to the inroads of time cannot be certainly known.

The presence of sound wood in the houses does not set aside their antiquity. In the dry, pure air of Southern Colorado, wood fairly protected will last for centuries. In Asia, cedar wood has been kept a thousand years, and in Egypt cedar is known to have been in perfect preservation two thousand years after it left the forest. The cedars throughout the territories of the southwest do not rot, even in the groves. They die and stand erect, solid and sapless. The winds and whirling sands carve the dead drill holes through the trunks, and play hide-and-go-seek in the perforated limbs until, after ages of resistance, they literally blow away in atoms of fine, clean dust.

On the Rio San Juan, about twenty-five miles distant from the city of the Animas, Mr. Wilson discovered the following evening a similar pile, looming solemnly in the twilight near their camping place. The scene as described was weird in the extreme. As the moon arose, the shadows of the phantom buildings were thrown darkly across the silvery plain. The blaze of camp-fires, the tiny tents, the negro cook, the men in buckskin hunting garb, and the picketed mules made a strange picture of the summer's night, with background of moonlit desert and crumbling ruins, on whose ramparts towered dead, gaunt cedars, lifting their bleached skeletons like sheeted ghosts within the silent watch-towers of the murky past.—Scribner.

ANCIENT PLAGUES OF DEATH.

The Scourges That Ravaged Asia and Africa in Distant Times—Victims by Millions.

Dr. F. L. Oswald in Popular Science Monthly.

The black death that ravaged Asia and Southern Europe in the fourteenth century spared the Mohammedan countries—Persia, Turkistan, Morroco and Southern Spain—whose inhabitants generally abstain from pork and intoxicating drinks. In the Byzantine Empire, Russia, Germany, Northern Spain (inhabited by the Christian Visigoths) and Italy, 4,000,000 died between 1373 and 1375, but the monasteries of the stricter orders and the frugal peasants of Calabria and Sicily enjoyed their usual health (which they, of course, ascribed to the favor of their tutelar saints); but among the cities which suffered most were Barcelona, Lyons, Florence and Moscow, the first three situated on rocky mountain slopes, with no lack of drainage and pure water, while the steppes of the Upper Volga are generally dry and salubrious.

The pestilence of 1720 spent away 52,000, or more than two thirds of the 75,000 inhabitants of Marseilles, in less than five weeks; but of the 6,000 abstemious Spaniards that inhabited the "Suburb of the Catalans" only 200 died, or less than 4 per cent.

The most destructive epidemic record d in authentic history was the four years' plague that commenced at Alexandria, Egypt, in A. D. 542, and raged through the dominions of Chosroes the Great, the Byzantine Empire, northern Africa and southwestern Europe. It commenced in Egypt, spread to the east over Syria, Persia and the Indies, and penetrated to the west along the coast of Africa and over the continent of Europe, Asia Minor, with its plethoric cities. Constantinople, Northern Italy and France suffered fearfully; entire provinces were abandoned, cities died out and remained vacant for many years, and during three months 5,000 and at last 10,000 persons died at Constantinople each day! (Gibbon's "History;") and the total number of victims in the three continents is variously estimated at from 75,000,000 to 120,000,000. But in Sicily, Morocco, and Albania the disease was confined to a few seaport towns and the Caucasus and Arabia escaped entirely.

This dreadful plague made its first appearance in Alexandria, Egypt, then a luxurious city of 800,000 inhabitants, and Paulus Diaconus, a contemporary historian, speaks of the "reckless gluttony by which the inhabitants of the great capital incurred yearly fevers and dangerous indigestions; and at last brought this terrible judgment upon themselves and their innocent neighbors." Alexandria lost 500,000 of her inhabitants in 542, and 800,000 in the following year, and for miles around the city the fields were covered with unburied corpses; but the monks of the Nitrian desert (3,000 of them had devoted themselves to the task of collecting and burying the dead) lost only fifty of their fraternity, who, with few exceptions, confessed that they had secretly violated the ascetic rules of their order.

Grabbing and Gambling.

"And there are your grab-bags—your grab bags! I tell you there is too much of this. Your fairs and your bazars won't do, and your voting, your casting of votes for the most popular man or the most popular woman, just helping along their vanity. It grieves the spirit, it offends God. They've got so far now that for twenty-five cents young men can come in and kiss the handsomest woman in the room. Think o' this! Look at the church lotteries going on in New York. Before God I would rather preach in any barn or the most miserable hovel on earth, than within the walls of a church paid for in such a way. What is the use of going to a gambling den when you can have a game of grab with a lady for a partner?" Of church choirs which are not composed of Christians he disapproves in the same emphatic way: "I tell you it's about time you stopped hiring ungodly men and ungodly women to sing in your church choirs, just because they happen to have a good voice. You smile. I tell you it's no smiling matter. You ought to blush with shame; that's what you ought to do. And there is such a thing as having an organist who gets drunk, and who can't play but he must go back every now and then to take a drink to refresh him."—Moody.

One Dollar buys more goods at our Store than Ten Dollars will buy at any other store in Janesville. We retail goods at 20 per cent. less than Wholesale Prices and have the Largest Stock West of anywhere.

We sincerely hope there are no readers of the Gazette foolish enough to believe a single one of the above statements, although they look reasonable compared with the advertisements of other clothing stores in the City. They are giving you what is vulgarly termed "TAFFY." to get you into their stores, where you are worked up for an offer,---no sooner made than accepted. Our easiest customers to sell are the ones who have been the rounds and escaped, because our first price astonishes them, and all we have to do is to fit them out and they are happy.

Dr. V. CLARENCE PRICE

—HAS—

Visited Janesville

EIGHTEEN YEARS.

HAS met with unparalleled success in the treatment of all

Chronic Diseases

—OF THE—

THROAT,

LUNGS,

HEART,

STOMACH,

LIVER.

Head, nerves, kidneys, bladder, womb, and blood affections of the urinary organs, gravel, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, dyspepsia, &c.

Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

DR. V. CLARENCE PRICE

Can be consulted at JANESVILLE, MYERS HOUSE, Saturday and Sunday, the 14th and 15th of December, 1878.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufactures of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.

Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that, as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from the raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs.
